

Wind farm proposals are mapped

THIS map showing wind farm developments and proposed schemes in central and south east Sutherland, is an extract from the recently published Highland Council Wind Farm Activity map, which is now available on the council's website.

Included are: Balnacoil, which is to be determined in April; SSE's proposed Gordonbush extension which is still at the scoping and consultation stage; West Garty, which goes to public consultation in Brora and Helmsdale on January 27th/28th, with an application expected around March; Braemore reduced scheme which is with the planners; and Creag Riahbach, just north of Crask, where an application has just been submitted.

As reported in the NT last week, the Tressady application will be decided after a site visit.
