

This striking collage depicts the start of golf in Dornoch.

The children pictured with their projects are (from left) P7 Jessica MacLennan and Emma MacLeod, P6 Poppy Ross, P5 Isla Robertson, P4 Erin Holden, P3 Mary McFall, P2 Ruby-Kay MacKay and P1 Emily MacDonald.

Pupils mark golf history

ENTERING into the spirit of celebrating 400 years of golf being played in Dornoch, pupils representing classes P1-P7 at Dornoch Primary School enjoyed a visit to Historylinks Museum.

The children and their other classmates have had great fun researching and preparing a series of collage panels.

They highlighting sporting activities and events that have taken place in the area over the years.

The work ranges from an account of the first record of golf being played in Dornoch in 1616 to information on the suffrage movement in the town.

The colourful project includes facts about horse racing at Meikle Ferry and shinty.

Other fascinating topics cover the visit to Royal Dornoch Golf Club of the veteran champion golfer and course designer Old Tom Morris.

The projects can be seen on display in the museum, which is open seven days a week during the summer.