Dear Mrs Grant & Family,

Just a note to let you know we are back to the hard again and to thank you very much for your kindness to John & myself. He appreciate a private home more than anything when we are so far away from home.

We had a very pleasant trip down on the bus and also on the train to Edinburgh. He saved most of the sandwiches for the train. Barbara and they were lovely. He arrived at Edinburgh about 9/30 P.M. stayed the night and continued the journey next day. The trip to London however wasn't at all pleasant as the train was very crowded and hot.

Isn't it wonderful about the war? We are all a bit disappointed however that we aren't going to get enough leave to go to London. Plymouth is a very uninteresting place and always full of sailors.

As far as we can tell we are to continue with our course here at "Raleigh" but the Admiralty is as changeable as any of the other services so we can't be too sure. The conditions here are lovely and I think we will be very comfortable.

If ever I am up your way again I will ring you and exchange notes. My regards to all including my little friend Grant and thank you all for your kindness

I remain,
yours sincerely,
Bruce.
