Dear Sir,

A. J. Ryle (deceased)

As promised in my letter of the 28th ult. addressed to Mr. Mackay, I enclose herewith list of books at Mr. Ryle's Studio in London which were not taken by Mr. J.H. Taylor, and I should be glad to hear whether there are any which you think it useless to send. Unless there are quite a substantial number which you do not want, it would be simpler to send the whole list.

Yours faithfully,

E. M. Bonus

Dear Mr. Mackay,

I think we should take all the books in this list,

By the way are you making up a set at Tennis. If so, I shall tell the Doctor.
